The Gallaudet Community Relations Council held its first Annual Awards and Recognitions Program on the evening of Saturday, March 22, on the Gallaudet campus.

The purpose of the program was to recognize those individuals and organizations who have made significant contributions toward improving the quality of life of residents in the Near Northeast Community and to strengthen the relationship between Gallaudet and the community in which it is located.

Keynote speaker was Dr. Calvin W. Rolark, president and founder of the Black United Fund. Rolark also received an award for the continuous support he has rendered community organizations, agencies and individuals.

Special awards were presented to Edward C. Merrill, Jr.; Michael Ralph, a Gallaudet graduate student; and Ethel Bothuel, consultant and former Equal Opportunity Officer at Gallaudet.

Whalen, executive director, Consortium of Universities of the Washington Metropolitan Area; and John S. Schuchman, vice president of Academic Affairs, Gallaudet.

Entertainment was provided by the Joyful Sign musical group of Gallaudet and the McKinley High School Orchestra. A portion of the proceeds from the ticket donations will be given to the campaign to restore the Ole Jim.

The Gallaudet Community Relations Council was organized in 1975 to establish close ties between Gallaudet and the Near Northeast Community, which consists of Wards 2, 5 and 6 of the city. The Council consists of community and College representatives who have worked together successfully on a number of community-centered projects.

NCI advisory board chosen

Two advisory boards representing the hearing impaired community in both the eastern and western part of the country have been named to the National Captioning Institute.

In the eastern area, Gallaudet's Frank Turk, director of youth relations for the Alumni and Public Relations Office and Gerald Winalski, an instructor with Career Development at MSSD, have been chosen for the board. Two other Washington area residents, Alexander Ewan, Jr., president of the Metropolitan Washington Association of the Deaf and Anne Wilson, executive director of Deaf Pride, Inc., have also been chosen.

Each advisory board has seven members active in deafness issues. The boards will help serve as liaisons between NCI and the deaf community. They will also advise NCI on captioning standards and various research projects as determined by the NCI Board of Directors and management staff.

Charter Day celebration: picnic, the bigtop & more

On April 8, 1864, President Abraham Lincoln signed the legislation authorizing the establishment of the college known today as Gallaudet. Over the years, Charter Day has been celebrated on campus to commemorate this event, usually on the weekend following April 8.

Although all the traditional alumni activities under the auspices of the Gallaudet College Alumni Association—Alumni Leadership Workshop, Charter Day Banquet, awards presentations and arts exhibit—will still be happening, this year there is more: a campus-wide picnic, "restoration tent," clowns, cotton candy, musical and dramatic performances, all geared to involve the campus community in the celebration.

"This year we want everyone to feel a part of Gallaudet College and its founding," says Sue Ellis, the College's external affairs officer, who is coordinating the campus-wide involvement.

Most of the events will be happening Friday and Saturday, April 11 and 12. The free campus-wide picnic for all employees of the College, MSSD and KDES, and their families, will be held Saturday, April 12, at in the MSSD gym, to commemorate MSSD's 10th anniversary. Beer and soft drinks will also be served, and clowns will be entertaining in and around the MSSD gym site. Watch your home mail delivery for a flyer giving more information; included will be an RSVP form for the picnic which must be returned by April 7.

After the picnic, you can go down the hill for a dessert of cotton candy, cookies and lemonade in the colorful striped tent set up in the area of the Ole Jim, in front of the old Counseling Center. The tent will be set up two days, April 11 and 12, and will include an exhibit of old photographs of the Ole Jim, the campus and work in progress. You can also get free helium balloons with a picture of the Ole Jim, and for a small cost tee shirts containing photos of Ole Jim will be printed on-the-spot, with proceeds going to the restoration project.

A small stage will be erected at one end of the tent for periodic performances throughout the two days. On Friday, April 11, you can see excerpts from the MSSD spring drama production, "South Pacific." On Saturday, April 12, the campus group, "Expressions," will be performing in song and sign, as well as excerpts from "Androcles and the Lion," the College Drama Department's upcoming children's production.

Small group tours of the new Kendall School will be available Saturday afternoon from 1-4 p.m.. The tours will be interpreted, and KDES is also inviting the entire deaf community.

The annual exhibit and sale of art, craft and photographic works will be held in the lobby of the Washburn Arts Building beginning Saturday, April 12 and continuing through April 19. Works of faculty, staff and alumni will be on exhibit and anyone can enter their work. Call x5104 for more information. Also on Saturday, Phi Kappa Zeta will have a bake, plant and book sale in the Arts Building Lobby from 10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

The Charter Day Banquet will be held Saturday evening at the Dining Hall. Honored guests will be participants in the Alumni Leadership Workshop and the workshop for Jr. NAD advisors. GCAA board members will also be in attendance, following their meeting here on Friday, April 11. The campus community and alumni are encouraged to attend, and tickets are still available for the banquet (cost $10). Call Polly Peikoff at x5104 by April 18 if you'd like to come.

At the banquet, awards will be presented in three different categories. Winners of the art exhibit in various artistic mediums will be recognized. The Alexandria-Potomac Lions Club will present a Young Alumnus Award. And the Laurent Clerc Cultural Fund will present four awards for achievement and service: The Alice Cogswell, Laurent Clerc, Amos Kendall and Edward Miner Gallaudet Awards.

This year's Alumni Leadership Workshop will begin with a reception at House #1 hosted by Dr. & Mrs. Merrill on April 9. Mary Anne Pugin, coordinator of alumni programs, will be coordinating the workshop which happens April 10-12. Alumni chosen to attend the workshop include Betty Moers of Colorado, Sidney

Library Bits & Pieces

Learning Center

by Fern Edwards

The Library is busy these days getting ready to move to the Learning Center in January, 1981, or possibly sooner if furnishings are complete. Some of the projects we are working on are:

1. Cleaning the card catalogs so they will look their best in their new environment.

2. Pulling cards from the card catalog which are duplicated in the COM Catalog.

3. Weeding the reference collection, withdrawing unneeded materials and transferring some to the circulating collection.

4. Deciding what signs we will need to help people find their way around.

5. Planning brochures with the information people will need.

6. Working with others to find ways to teach students, faculty and staff about the building and its services.

7. Recataloging as many books as possible to be a part of the initial core collection in the Learning Center.

8. Participating in the selection of furnishings.

9. Planning for the moving of telecommunications equipment and copying machines, as well as the materials collection.

10. Generally mixing our nervousness at the impending big move with a generous amount of excitement about the realization of a dream that is about to happen.

We have posted a set of floor plans on the bulletin board across from the Circulation Desk on the main floor of the Library, with supplementary labels as needed. If you would like to begin now learning your way around this beautiful new building, come and explore with us.

Reference book reviews

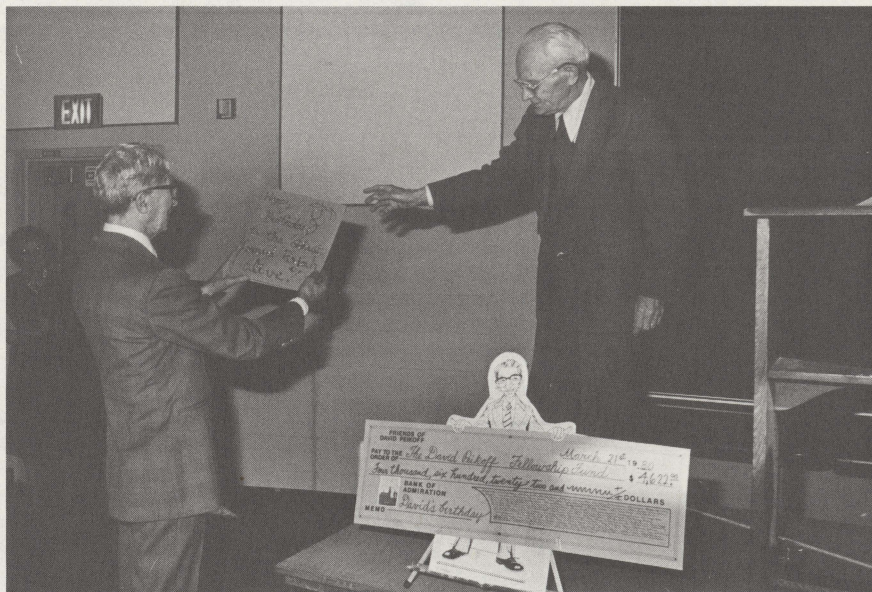

by Jeanne Conway

Now that the snow has melted and warm breezes have shown up, you're probably beginning to plan for summer. "Summer 1980: Directory of Summer Opportunity" is available at the Circulation Desk to help you with your plans. (You can check it out for three days, if you want!) It's full of all kinds of information about academic courses, athletic programs, backpacking, boating, camp jobs, programs offered by environmental organizations, government jobs, internships, photo workshops, river-rafting, sailing, theatre and travel opportunities. Each program is described with application dates, fees, a statement of who is eligible to participate, contact person's address and, often, phone number. Scanning this book brings vacation closer. Whet your appetite - look over the suggestions - it may be the best summer you've ever had!

Another useful (if not so stimulating) book that you may not be aware of is "Names and Numbers: a Journalists' Guide to the Most Needed Information Sources and Contacts" (1979). This is a magnificent help if you are looking for names, addresses and telephone numbers of governments, businesses, institutions, organizations or people in all walks of life. There are over 20,000 listings, alphabetically arranged. Many of the names and numbers included would not be found in telephone books, even if one had a current national collection of them.

Three main areas of information are covered. In the first, "Useful Logistics," you can find toll-free airline reservation numbers, unpublished airport numbers, hotel reservation numbers, etc. The bulk of the book is devoted to the second area, "Information Sources and Contact." Here are described Information and Research services; a list of congressmen by state, with phone numbers for them, their press men—even their secretaries(!); addresses and phone numbers for newsworthy Americans, and much more. The third area, "The Media," lists daily newspapers, radio and TV stations, magazines and press clubs. You owe it to yourself to browse through and discover all the fascinating and useful information this directory contains. It's located in the "Ready Reference" area behind the Information Desk. Ask a librarian to show it to you.

Dave gets birthday surprise: Peikoff Fund achieves goal

by Donna Chitwood

There were many special moments at Dave Peikoff's 80th birthday reception on Friday, March 21 at Gallaudet. But there is no news in the fact that Peikoff—a 1929 graduate of Gallaudet, former director of Development here and still a volunteer in the Alumni and Public Relations Office—is loved and admired by friends, family and colleagues who had gathered from across the Gallaudet campus, the U.S. and Canada to wish him well. The most newsworthy event, though only one of the highlights of the celebration, was Alan B. Crammatte's announcement that the David Peikoff Fellowship Fund now had the $25,000 required by the GCAA's Graduate Fellowship Fund in order to be used.

In fact, the special birthday appeal which Crammatte coordinated as a surprise for Peikoff brought in close to $10,000, about $8,000 more than the amount needed in order for the fund to begin providing support for deaf students working on their doctorates at hearing colleges. A large check, drawn on the "Bank of Admiration," showed Peikoff that friends had sent in $4,622. Crammatte waved unopened mail in the air to indicate that the grand total was not yet known. Marshall Wick of the Department of Business Administration presented a check for $5,000 in Canadian currency from the Canadian Association of the Deaf as well.

Big checks and well-earned praise were the order of the day. Master of Ceremonies Jack Gannon of the A/PR Office described Peikoff as a "can-er" and a "doer." "Can't" is the one word not in Dave's vocabulary," Gannon said. Whenever any new project was in the works, according to Gannon, he would discover that Peikoff had already started on it yesterday. Edward C. Merrill, Jr. Claimed Peikoff as his inspiration in Merrill's work as president of Gallaudet. Verna Domich and Gerri Born read excerpts from the many cards, letters, and cables which poured in to honor Peikoff and his wife Polly with such sentiments as "Dave and Polly are super and beautiful. I love both of them."

The David Peikoff Fellowship Fund was established in 1975 when Peikoff received a gift of $1,000 for his 75th birthday. He promptly gave the money to the Graduate Fellowship Fund whereupon the GCAA started a special fund in his name. Since that time the David Peikoff Fellowship Fund has been one of the projects closest to Peikoff's heart.

Weekly program highlight

The Office of Human Development Services, DHEW, USOE, announced a new program entitled "Rehabilitation Long-Term Training: Availability of Fiscal Year 1980 Grant Funds for Training of Interpreters for Deaf Individuals." Applications will be accepted until April 30, 1980 from any public or private nonprofit agency or organization or post-secondary institution wishing to compete for grant funds. Grants for training of interpreters for deaf individuals are made for the support of projects designed for training skilled interpreters available for employment in public and private agencies involved in the provision of health, education, welfare, rehabilitation, employment and related services to deaf people.

Grants are made to provide a comprehensive program of assistance to meet training needs of interpreters serving deaf individuals. Grants are intended to:

- 1) Increase the supply of skilled interpreters available for employment, and
- 2) Ensure the maintenance of basic manual communication skills and knowledge of these skills by personnel engaged in programs serving deaf people, and simultaneously, to provide opportunities for such service personnel to raise their level of competence and upgrade the quality of available interpreter services. An estimated $900,000 will be available for this program in FY 1980. This is a new program and there are no continuation projects. The size of the individual grants is expected to be variable and might range from $50,000 to $100,000. Central Americans visit Gallaudet

Persons from Costa Rica, Ecuador, Honduras, Panama, Colombia and Venezuela attended a Central/South American Workshop here at Gallaudet this past February, sponsored by the International Center on Deafness and the Graduate School. Six participants were deaf and the remaining 17 were professionals in the field of deafness. All the presentations were translated into Spanish as well as Costa Rican sign language.

Workshop participants heard lectures from individuals on campus in areas related to deafness such as deaf-blind programs, TV studio, counseling and Total Communication. They also visited the Maryland Schools for the Deaf in Frederick and Columbia. On the last day of the workshop, participants visited the NAD and spent much of the time in the NAD Bookstore buying books and materials that are not available to them in their own countries.

This workshop was the first of several planned by the ICD this year. If you are interested in working with the ICD in any way during future workshops and seminars, contact Karen King, x5316.

Money Talks

Gallaudet's philosophy on publishing business and financial information

by Paul K. Nance

The enabling legislation for Gallaudet (P.L. 83-420 as amended by P.L. 86-776) states that the Board of Trustees (referred to as Directors in the enabling legislation) of Gallaudet College has the power to: "Subject to the provisions of Section 7, control expenditures of all moneys appropriated by Congress for the benefit of Gallaudet College; and control the expenditure and investment of any moneys or funds or property which Gallaudet College may have or may receive from sources other than appropriations by Congress."

This same enabling legislation also refers to the duty of the Board with regard to reporting:

"It shall be the duty of the Board of Directors of Gallaudet College to have made annually a report to the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare as soon as practicable after the first day of July of each year the condition of the corporation, embracing in said report the number of students of each description received and discharged during the preceding school year and the number remaining, also the branches and type of training and education taught and progress made therein, together with a statement showing the receipts of said corporation and from what sources, and its expenditures and for what objects."

From the above two quotations from the enabling legislation, it is expected 1) that Gallaudet shall receive funds from both the private and public sectors and 2) that Gallaudet shall report annually to the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare (now Secretary of Education) on several items including amounts of income by source and amounts of expenditure by object.

Of course, Gallaudet complies with this mandate of law, but goes further than this, even though not required by law to do so. Gallaudet chooses to do this because we consider it not only has an obligation to report and publish on a broader scale than required by law, but also because Gallaudet has an opportunity to encourage more support for institutional programs by publishing business and financial information. Further, Gallaudet considers it only appropriate for the various supporting publics—alumni, foundations, business organizations, parents of students, other individuals and organizations, as well as the federal government, to know where Gallaudet gets its money and how the money is spent. Also, Gallaudet is concerned that faculty, staff students have this same information because these groups make up the major portions of the institutional team. The basic idea is that Gallaudet should live in a business and financial "fish bowl," making it easy for everyone to see what is happening.

What does Gallaudet do now to disseminate business and financial information? Gallaudet makes the information public by 1) the budget development and budget operating reporting process of distributing budget printouts to department heads and other administrators; 2) the budget request document submitted to the government which shows where Gallaudet expects to get its money from both the private and public sectors and how Gallaudet expects to spend the money (this document is made public by the government); 3) an outside independent auditing firm publishing a financial report on Gallaudet, with a copy of this report available to any interested party; and 4) several ad hoc means of publishing business and financial information from time to time.

Anyone who has questions should feel free to contact the vice president for Business Affairs.
